What IS News?
Human, Just Wise
Who Owns Chicago
Streets?
The Mind Sees
By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1923, by Hearst Inc.
What really is news? You ask yourself that question as you read dispatches that come from everywhere.

No doubt about the most important news. The President of the United States, dealing with the owners of the railroads, demands that they restore to striking men their full seniority rights. That is HUMAN, JUST and WISE.

It will do more to end the strike than a thousand hours of talk.

Next to coal and railroad strikes affecting the nation comes the street car strike that ties up Chicago. Owners of Chicago's lines, living in NEW YORK, are said to have gathered an army of men to replace strikers and wipe out once for all the street car labor organizations. That may work, and may not.

What ought to come out of that strike is realization that the people of Chicago are big enough to own the streets of Chicago, too big to depend for transportation facilities on plans of profit of distant stock owners.

A woman is running for Senator in West Virginia, another lady in Kansas is running for the Governorship, and, of all things, on a "wet" platform. She says Kansas has been thirsty for forty years without admitting it.

Negroes are lynched by mobs in Arkansas and Georgia. You can hardly call that news. Forty pilgrims are killed and fifty injured in a train wreck on the way to the Holy Grail of Lourdes. That may puzzle the devout, but should not. If the accident represented the will of Providence, it means taking the victims direct to heaven; otherwise it could not be helped.

Cotton jumped up $5.50 a bale, and the cotton crop for this year will be one million bales below the crop of two years ago. That's good news for cotton growers, and news for the ragged, half-clothed hundreds of millions in Europe and Asia. Men manage crops and prices badly, leaving naked children for the mercy of cotton speculators and price fluctuations.

An unfortunate girl, gone blind, told the could not recover, killed herself. She should have been told that the mind alone sees, not the eyes. Madame du Defland, marvelously clever among the "why" French women of the eighteenth century, went blind at thirty. She decided to study herself. She fell in love with a young man, wrote him letters that fill two thousand pages, corresponded with Voltaire, had everybody in France worth while in her salon and died long past fifty.

That's the way to treat blindness. You can always see with the mind, and see what you will. Germany finally lets down and says, "I can't pay." And it is clear that she can't, at least not with money. If our dollar suddenly dropped in value to one-third of a cent and some conspicuous articles of gold went to go immediately and buy in the world's markets several thousand million real dollars' worth of gold, we would find it hard to oblige. War doesn't pay even the winner. Q. E. D.

Newspapers and their readers are discussing the question, "Did Theodore Roosevelt use profane language?" He didn't need to. He pounded the table, showed his teeth, shut them with a snap, glared at you, and that was enough. Much more violent than swearing.

This is explained in the first description of that set of teeth, written by this writer when Roosevelt was police commissioner of New York City, and admirably illustrated by Mr. McCarley, cartoonist. The lion doesn't need to roar, he roars. Probably is foolish.

The Japanese do fairly well. Our exports are off many millions. The Japanese exports are correspondingly increased. They are good little business men, and deserve everybody's congratulations.

James Murphy is to stand trial in Boston for the murder in 1917 of two A. & P. store managers. The Pennsylvania Parole Board will meet in an special session on August 10 to pardon Murphy, so that he may be brought to Boston to face the chair.

Murphy confessed voluntarily that he killed Oswald R. Hall of the A. & P. store in 1917. He has also admitted his part in killing Manager Edward P. Foley of the Dorchester A. & P. store. George L. Rollins was convicted of the first murder and his brother Charles of killing Foley.

George Rollins is now awaiting the death sentence. Only the Governor's Council can save him, because of a technicality in the law. Charles Rollins is serving a life sentence at Charlestown State Prison. He Murphy is expected to be executed by the authorities in France.

HART WINS OUT OVER FOLEY

Flaherty-Pelletier Candidate Is Elected Supreme Advocate of K. of C.
Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 2.—Luke E. Hart of St. Louis was elected supreme advocate of the Knights of Columbus at their convention here today, defeating William J. Mulligan of Thompsonville, Ct. The vote was 165 to 154, five delegates not voting.

His election was called a victory for the Flaherty-Pelletier forces and a rebuke to the 100 prominent Boston Catholics whose open letter criticizing Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty for his criticism of the Massachusetts Supreme Court has caused a row which is still boiling.

While the insurance lost in their battle on the Flaherty election they rallied forces and today were against the Flaherty nominee. The office of supreme advocate was occupied by Mr. Pelletier, until he resigned following his ousting as district attorney for Suffolk County after the Supreme Court had found him guilty of misconduct.

Supporters of Supreme Knight Flaherty were prepared to introduce a resolution denouncing as "Catholic traitors" Bernard J. Rothwell, former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and the "100 other Boston Catholics" who signed the open letter assailing Mr. Flaherty. Behind the resolution is a list of the body of Massachusetts delegates to the convention.

EXAMINER G. BELL IS DEAD

End Comes to Inventor of the Telephone at His Summer Home in Canada
By Associated Press.
Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 2.—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, died at 2 o'clock this morning at Bainbridge, his estate near Baddeck.

Although the inventor had been in failing health for several months, he had not been confined to bed and the end was unexpected. Last yesterday afternoon, however, his condition became serious, and Dr. Ker of Warrington, a cousin of Mr. Bell, a house guest, and a fellow pupil, sat at his bedside. His death was attributed to progressive anemia.

Mr. Bell when he died was 71. He had a daughter, Mrs. Marian Hubbard Furbush, and her husband, David G. Furbush, of Washington. The inventor leaves another daughter, Mrs. Elsie M. Grosvenor, wife of a Washington magazine editor. Dr. Bell was buried on top of Mt. Ben Bulbin, a spot chosen by himself.

Alexander Graham Bell was one of three men who contributed, in this generation, the greatest things to the advancement of the brotherhood of men. One is Edison, who improved light in a glass bottle. The other is Marconi, who threw a spark across space. The third was Bell, who has left a monument in almost every civilized home in the world—the telephone.

Dr. Bell was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, but he belongs to Boston. He came into the world March 3, 1847, but that is not the date he will be remembered by. The date is June 3, 1876. It marks Bell's own place as the day when the telephone was born.

predicted the seizure apparently will have to come.

It was suggested that the government could, without great difficulty, take over the roads for a short period—just long enough to permit the striking shopkeepers to return to work, and to a more peaceful state of mind. The government's next step may have to be one of far-reaching consequences, advisers to the President said today that it is his plan to proceed slowly and with the utmost care in a situation that is admittedly more critical now than it has been at any time since the tie-up began.

It was considered likely today that no steps will be taken in any event until after Friday's Cabinet meeting develops a crystallization of opinion among the administration's policy makers.

Three avenues of action appeared open to the administration today:—It can assume control of the railroads under the emergency powers granted in the national defense and transportation act.

—It can keep "taking off" as demanded by the more militant elements of the railway management, and let them have a showdown test as to their ability to fulfill the transportation needs of the country without the aid of 300,000 of their old skilled workmen.

—It can refuse to accept as final the cold turndown given peace proposals to date, and continue its efforts to arrive at a peaceable, mutually satisfactory program of settlement.

Administration officials pointed out today that while the railway bonds were unanimous in rejection of the seniority clause of the White House compromise program they nevertheless signified their acceptance of the other proposals it contained and left the door to peace open, if not wide open.

Governor Cox May Convince Legislature

Governor Channing H. Cox said today he would not hesitate to call a special session of the Legislature if necessary to secure necessary appropriations for paying the expenses of the State Post Commission.

"I cannot imagine anything of more concern to the people than that they have coal for their homes and coal to keep industries going," said the Governor.

The commission met today in the Governor's council chamber for organization, and it was arranged to establish headquarters in the State House and also to open a downtown office where the distribution will be allowed. In the State House Chairman James J. Storrow will make his headquarters. Downtown office will be opened within 48 hours. Governor Cox also added to the committee W. A. Clark, president of the New England Retail Dealers Association, and Albert A. Schaefer was named as counsel. Working committees were appointed.

Two million tons of coal a month will be brought into the United States from England and Wales as soon as ships are available, Chairman Lusk of the Shipping Board announced today. Most of the coal will go to industries in New England and along the Atlantic Coast. Arrangements have been made to bring in a million tons a month after September 1.

Boston & Albany Trains Behind Schedule

While railroad officials state that the service is normal and that trains are arriving on time, the following late arrivals were recorded at the South Station today:

Boston and Albany train from Springfield, due at 9 o'clock, was twenty-five minutes behind time. Western Express, due at 10:15, fifty minutes late. Twentieth Century Limited, due at 12, first section, one hour and five minutes late, second section, one hour and fifteen minutes late. The Worcester local, due at 1:30, was twenty-five minutes late.

All New Haven trains were reported on time, as were Boston & Maine trains.

Boston Received 94,430 Tons of Foreign Coal

Another cargo of British coal has arrived at Boston. The British "Crichton" of the Furness Withy Line brought in 4,915 tons of bituminous coal from North Shields consigned to the New Haven Railroad. Another shipment, Ramon de Larrinaga, is on the way to Boston, due to arrive August 5, with a full cargo of bituminous coal.

During the past week three shipments of bituminous from Sydney, Cape Division, were discharged here. Another shipment came from Pictou, Nova Scotia. These cargoes totaled 23,344 tons with an aggregate value of $1,621,000. The price of coal is substantially higher than that obtained for the strike cargo. The rate of shipment was "declared" at $7.20 per ton.

Imports of foreign coal at Boston for July reached 94,430 tons, with a total declared value of $1,621,000, comparing with 45,000 tons valued at $2,645,000 for June.

will introduce on the floor of the convention in the form of a resolution the letter.

So declared Bernard J. Rothwell, former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, to a Boston American reporter today.

"It will be introduced by the Michigan delegation and seconded by the delegation from Iowa," said Mr. Rothwell, who with the other 100 signers of the letter which created a furor at the eve of the convention's opening was branded "Goo-goo" and "Catholics" by former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, whose removal from office on charges of unbecoming conduct was the basis for the present row.

ROTHWELL'S VIEW THERE, ward V. Hickey of Boston, foreign Mr. Rothwell's son, Paul, with 100-signer manager for the Gillette Safety Razor Company, have been active among the insurgents at the Atlantic shore convention at New York.

Neither are members of the Knights of Columbus. A rumor that both had been recalled by the elder Rothwell and that the insurgent fight on the Pelletier-Polletier faction had been given up was denied by Mr. Rothwell today.

He admitted he had been in long-distance telephone communication with his emissaries at the shore.

"This fight," said Mr. Rothwell, "is not strictly speaking a row of Catholics of Columbus members. It is a matter concerning all Catholics."

As explained in the first paragraph of the open letter it is because the Knights of Columbus is regarded as representative of the great body of the American Roman Catholic laity that we demanded the repudiation of its support of Pelletier for his utterance against the Supreme Court.

Mr. Rothwell would make no comment on Mr. Pelletier's statement in which he accused the signers of the letter.

So little is the feeling here over what is termed by supporters of the "Knights" as the "Pelletier" administration, the attempt of "outsiders" to run the convention that in hotel lobbies during what a new row were warm friends pass without speaking.

Whether the order discloses the utterance of its Supreme Knight Pelletier in condemning the Massachusetts Supreme Court for ousting Joseph C. Pelletier, former district attorney, as district attorney for Suffolk county in that state, will be determined principally by the election or defeat of William C. Frost of Massachusetts, candidate of the so-called "Pelletier-Polletier" machine for the office of director.

Insurgent Knights at the Western and the South, with a sprinkling from New England were today making their issue on the election of the Boston lawyer, Frost, who is now president of the Amateur Athletic Union.

In the nomination of Frost they see the hand of Pelletier. The administration and the Massachusetts delegates, however, are emphatic in their denial of the charge and assert that Frost, who is an unwilling candidate, was put in the fight to give the Bay State a place on the governing board.

Whether Frost or the six other administration candidates on the ticket to be voted upon today win or lose, the "insurgent" seem to be determined on their heretofore course of "draining the lake."

Peccably enough, no open action on the "Pelletier" case has yet been made in the convention. Supreme Knight Pelletier, avoiding all mention of it in his annual report.

Both the insurgents and the administration are claiming victory. The former say they have 140 delegates to 110 administration delegates, listing fifty delegates as neutral. The administration credits the insurgents with only ninety votes.

Tomorrow the insurgents will continue their fight on Pelletier, the "Pelletier" case, and control of the order, the latter issue revolving around the alleged subordination of the organization by politicians to their own preference.

A Correction

Acting on what we thought accurate information, we published on July 23 an advertisement of coats at $8 made from Worumbo cloth in which we claimed "Worumbo cloth sells now for $9 a yard."

There are so many different kinds of cloth manufactured by the Worumbo Company that we fear our advertisement may have created a wrong impression.

We have found since publishing this announcement that the particular cloth of which these coats were made actually cost much less than $9.

Furthermore, we should have added that the colors in which the coats came were not those in the greatest demand at the present time.

We regret the inaccuracies in this advertisement, and while these coats at $8 were very good values and the materials of genuine Worumbo manufacture, we will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied with them after knowing the above facts.

"Safety First," Says His Honor as He Tours Hurley's Resort at Revere Beach

Shower which frenched the roller coaster, "Over the Top," at Revere Beach, owned by John H. Hurley, Jr., depicted "Bismarck" of several while among the riders. His Honor said it was tough luck. MYSTERY GUEST OBEYS IMPULSE AND JUMPS TO DEATH

John J. Riel, a World War veteran, charges his wife and Hurley with misconduct on twenty-two occasions at Hurley's Revere Beach resort, during which both also charged the other with "framing" the case.

The judge halted the man, against his will from Missouri and needed to be shown. Today is the day. And incidentally Judge Wood's opinion is precedent. It is the first time in the history of Revere Beach that a jurist has heard a divorce trial in the second where his mind is alleged to have taken place.

He will establish whether it is possible for a person standing on certain parts of the coaster to secure a clear view of Hurley's apartments. He will also conduct a minute inspection of the apartment house.

A new witness to impeach previous testimony of Mrs. Riel, Mrs. Riel, a Hurley wife, had previously testified John J. Riel had asked her aid to take her to the coast. They met Mrs. Riel at corner of West Newton street and Shawmut avenue.

Diminutive Woman Sheriff to War on Bootleggers

(By the Associated Press.)—Arkansas City, Ark., Aug. 2.—A small woman with a snarl on her lips and laughter in her voice, today was in charge of the sheriff's office. She is Mrs. Willie Clara Murphy, the state's first woman sheriff, appointed by Governor Harvey.

Standing five feet in shoes with levels of medium height and weighing 120 pounds, Mrs. Murphy is the opposite of anything the imagination might picture as a county sheriff. She is "comparatively young."

The sheriff's car gleams from her belt, decorously placed, as she is partly hidden from view. Bootleggers will be harshly dealt with, Mrs. Murphy said.

Beanin' a Guy Ain't the Way to the Navy, Flapper Learns

By THE FLAPPER

Selling the Navy to the youth of the country is the bumblebee's B. V. D.'s, if you know what I mean. It's no easy feat to be a shame to take the credit.

When I turned over my recruits at the end of the day, a yeoman looked up from the pages of a postal-card album and took the names of my prospects.

"Wedded, But No Wife," or "Deceived at the Altar" is more exciting than that. I told him when the clerical work was done. "I'll loan it to you."

"Nope," said the yeoman. "I joined the Navy to see the world and I'm gone."

And he thoughtfully turned the Niagara Falls page and started on China.

Beanin' a Guy Ain't the Way to the Navy, Flapper Learns

By THE FLAPPER

Selling the Navy to the youth of the country is the bumblebee's B. V. D.'s, if you know what I mean. It's no easy feat to be a shame to take the credit.

When I turned over my recruits at the end of the day, a yeoman looked up from the pages of a postal-card album and took the names of my prospects.

"Wedded, But No Wife," or "Deceived at the Altar" is more exciting than that. I told him when the clerical work was done. "I'll loan it to you."

"Nope," said the yeoman. "I joined the Navy to see the world and I'm gone."

SIGNS ORDER TO PROBE OFFICE OF MANNING

Mayor Curley today signed an order calling on the City Council for an immediate investigation of the office of John P. Manning, clerk of the Superior Criminal Court for Suffolk county.

The Mayor's action followed the receipt by the Mayor of a letter from Mr. Manning, in which he requested that if there is to be an investigation of his office it should be made before the primaries in the Fall.

The order for the investigation came about as a result of a stormy session of the City Council, at which Councilor James T. Moriarty claimed that Mr. Manning was employing one of his own sons in his office at the rate of two dollars a day. A story was followed.

HUNT POISON CLEVER KILLING OF SIX PERSONS IN NEW YORK

A ANALYZE SAMPLES OF FOOD

Some of the Victims Not Affected by Eating Restaurant Pies

New York, Aug. 2.—District Attorney Barton today received information indicating that pie eaten at the Shelburne restaurant at Broadway and 26th st. street was not entirely responsible for the six deaths already reported among patrons of the establishment.

Mr. Barton said several persons who had recovered from illness attributed to eating poisoning had stated that they did not partake of the fatal food.

The district attorney directed health department inspectors to analyze samples of other food, to determine if they contained poison. The health department was also investigating a report that a person recently bitten had been employed in the kitchen of the restaurant.

The restaurant today was guarded by a detail of police.

FREIGHT OFF RAILS, TIES UP N. H. TRAINS

Milford, Ct., Aug. 2.—Both east-bound trucks of the main line of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad were blocked for several hours today following the derailment of ten cars of a freight train west of Woodmont.

The trucks were torn up for 200 yards. A broken wheel on one of the freight cars caused the derailment.

POLICE WITH N. H. STRIKERS ATTACKED

New Haven, Ct., Aug. 2.—The first excitement said to have been caused by strikers in this city occurred when a crowd estimated at about one thousand roughly handled two police men following the arrest of three men, said to be striking shopmen, for an alleged assault on Anthony Sarno, a worker in the railroad shops here.

The strikers were waiting for a patrol wagon when the crowd gathered. The officers were jostled and an attempt was made to take the prisoners away. The latter, however, were finally brought to the station.

MOVIE WORLD NEWS AND GOSSIP

By FRIEDA DAVIS.

"THE MARRIED FLAPPER," at Loew's Orpheum, is entertaining. There is nothing new about it and it is most impossible, but that's not the point. It is entertaining. This would seem to indicate that as long as they string along enough rapid-fire situations and keep up suspense, it doesn't matter to any great extent whether or not the story is new or even a good one. That's not so. We accept such stories because we can't get anything else.

Marie Prevost is seen as a young wife who has more money than sense and a wrong idea of what a flapper really is. Nevertheless, she is given enough to do to counteract all that. There is a splendid automobile race that caps the episode.

Mine Prevost is patently trying to imitate Gloria Swanson and looks not unlike that star. Unfortunately, she has no ability as an actress. Only continuous action gives her value, as well as a smart wardrobe. Kenneth Harlan, as the husband, and Philo McCullough as the villain, quite outshine the star and the rest of the cast. Jewett's talent is not to remain hidden. They are both capital.

The last three days of the week the film at the Orpheum will be William Russell in "Men of Danzig."

INGRAMS COMING.

REX INGRAM and his wife, Alice Terry, reached New York Sunday in time for the opening of their newest film for Metro, "The Prisoner of Zenda." They will stay in New York for a few days and will then continue to the Maine coast to make "exteriors" for Victor Hugo's story, "Tollers of the Sea." Ramon Navarro, Ingram's newest "find," will come East, as well as Edward Connelley.

When "Tollers of the Sea" is finished, the entire cast will leave for Jamaica to take "exteriors" for a story adapted to the screen by Ingram from a story of John Russett's, "Where the Pavement Ends." The interior for these films will be made at the Metro studios in New York. After that, Ingram hopes to go abroad to make a big financial on form ground. His story for this enterprise is already picked out.

BETTY JEWELL AGAIN.

BEFORE "Orphans of the Storm" was released we were best with statements from the Griffith studio basing us on a statement from Betty Jewell in "The Storm." She was, it seemed, another Griffith "find" and was destined for great things. When the film was shown watched by Betty Jewell seemed hopelessly in production. We still hear from the publicity office of Griffith—that Miss Jewell did remarkable work. But again, so many players did remarkable work in "The Orphans."

MOVIE MAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

BEING a motion picture fan, it seems to me one of the most amusing things to do is to try to find out who is the best of the bunch. I mean, who is the champion? In the world and has a correspondence on the subject of movies and their makers that would do credit to "Our Mary" herself. As a matter of fact, it has gone still further. When he reached the stage where there were no more clubs to join, he founded one. The Motion Picture Club of America, the only Massachusetts club of its kind.

FOUR NEAR DEATH AS AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Baldwinville, Aug. 2.—Four persons narrowly escaped death when their automobile turned turtle on the State road near here today. Mrs. L. Hanson of Hyring fractured an arm, but her husband, L. Hanson, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Russell of South Hadley, escaped serious injury.

BAY STATE MAN FOUND SLAIN IN ALBANY

By International News Service.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Albany police are faced with a death mystery by the finding today of the body of Edward J. Carlin of Springfield, Mass., on the sidewalk in the downtown section of the city. Death was caused by a deep gash over the left eye.

The authorities are inclined to the belief that Carlin was first assaulted and then robbed. When the police arrived the man's money and watch, if he had either, were missing. Identification was made possible through a draft registration card Carlin formerly lived in Wilmington, Del.

WEALTHY FARMER DIES IN WOODS

Gotham, Aug. 2.—Myron W. Howe, wealthy retired farmer of Southampton, was found dead in the woods here today by two little girls. Townsfolk and State constabulary had searched for him unsuccessfully.

Howe, while planning to enjoy a little fishing, it being the last day of the trout season. When he did not return search was started. It is thought he overtook his strength. He formerly conducted one of the largest farms in the Connecticut Valley at Hadley.

'WILDMAN' GOES ALLIES LAND WILD AS DUDS ARE TAKEN

Worcester, Aug. 2.—There's a "wild man" in the woods near Doubleday's Pond.

The police nab him "wild." For while he was winning they drove off with his clothing in an automobile, with the claim was stolen from Doubleday's Pond. Police say "wild man" is Joseph Ellison, seventeen years old, of No. 17 Fairfax road. They are watching for his appearance and plan to arrest him on sight.

10,000 ALONG BOSPHORUS

By the Associated Press.

Constantinople, Aug. 2.—Constantinople breathed easier today under the general conviction that the danger of an attack on the city by the Greeks had been averted.

Troop movements continued all last night and today, with additional allied forces descending along the Bosphorus and then Golden Horn. These included landing parties from the Mediterranean fleet to the number of 10,000, now massed along the frontier lines northwest of the city's walls.

Regadier General Sir Charles Harbord, commander of the allied forces, has declined the Sublime Porte's offer of two divisions of Turkish troops as Turkey still is technically at war with the allies.

POLICE HALT TO DOUBLE IN MILL STRIKE

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Manchester, Aug. 2.—Elements of serious trouble were let loose last evening in that section of the city inhabited mostly by Poles and Greeks. What might have developed into a riot was stopped in the bud by the quick and vigorous work of an extra large detail of police.

Hundreds of boys, young men and girls collected there, a few men and women returned home from the mills, surrounded them and looted and looted at them. Boys' reports are in the effect that numbers of various kinds were thrown at the looting victims of the crowd's wrath but these could not be verified.

At the police headquarters the officer in charge said nothing serious happened and that no arrests were made; that the crowd was composed largely of boys and that the police handled the situation effectively.

HUNGER STRIKE AVERTED

It was rumored that the people to know that, had the strike been true about the closing of the strike's commences, Manchester might have witnessed the history of a hunger strike.

How long it would have continued is a matter of conjecture, but the fact is that there are many in this city who would not have fasted until they passed out or fainted would from strike leaders' advice. Had everything had been settled to the satisfaction.

At the police headquarters the officer in charge said nothing serious happened and that no arrests were made; that the crowd was composed largely of boys and that the police handled the situation effectively.

When it is no longer possible to secure funds for the strikers, they said, they will bring on a strike of starvation through their hunger strike. Well, the strike may even fatter at first, but at any rate, it shows that the police are ready such a state of affairs that all sorts of funny things may be expected.

AMORKEAG'S WAR JOBS

Many people have asked the Boston American to tell the story of Amorkeag's war contracts. Just what they have to do with the strike is not clear, but it is a question. Still, as many have requested the publication of the facts, the American is making no certain degree to have a glimpse.

Most of the testimony relative to Amorkeag's contracts is to be found in a self one, part nine. Altogether, there are about thirty volumes of testimony and it may be that several two, references to other contracts are to be found.

However, here is what one serial indicates in contracts and payments to the Amorkeag Mfg. Co. of Boston, Mass., New York, N. Y., and Manchester.

Boston-Contract May 28, 1918, for $440,000 for barrack bags, payments made to June 1, 1919, $244,000.

REVEALS PLOTTERS' MEETING

Dublin, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The publicity department of the Provisional Government published a letter signed today that had been found in the home of Jean O'Keefe, a prominent Republican, inviting him to attend a club convention in the United States on August 5, and instructing him to bring back all available money and also machine guns and revolvers.

The invitation is declared to have been sent by Joseph McGurny of Philadelphia, through the late Harry J. Boland, former representative in America of the Irish Republic. An endorsement of the letter, apparently by Eamon De Valera, said: "Some one must go."

The government adds that the man mentioned is a small body which breaks away from the Clan-na-Gael, the latter having repudiated the irregularity.

Capture of Tipperary by the Free State forces is looked upon by the military staff of the Provisional government as a stroke of enormous strategic value in the general campaign against the Republicans in southwestern Ireland.

By the occupation of the town the Free State forces have been enabled to straighten their line, and have moved the irregulars in the Clonmel district in a dangerous position. Clonmel is regarded as the strongest point held by the irregulars, being the last position of importance protecting Clonmel, where the irregulars are reported to be preparing for a siege.

A traveler arriving here from Clonmel says that the irregulars there, alarmed by the Free State advance, began to burn their barracks, but that De Valera interfered, preventing further destruction, and declaring that he intended to make a stand there. The traveler adds, however, that De Valera is not in command of the Republican forces.

DORCHESTER WOMAN BRUTALLY ATTACKED AND THROWN INTO BAY

ALLEGED ASSAULT IS HELD

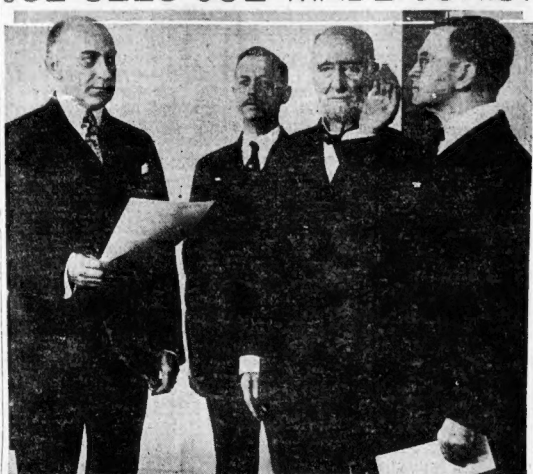

Victim Choked by Enraged Man in Dispute Over Use of Gasoline Boat

After choking Mrs. Henrietta T. Kendall, a middle-aged Dorchester woman, into insensibility, William Rabenaskas, a young resident of that district, is alleged to have tried to drown his victim in the tidewater of South Bay.

His attack on the woman was the outgrowth of a dispute over Rabenaskas' right to use Mrs. Kendall's gasoline tender of a diving float. A group of operators witnessed the attack from a wharf at Dondos street and Columbia road, and rushed to the aid of the helpless woman.

Mrs. Kendall was taken to the City Hospital. Rabenaskas was arrested by Patrolman Lee Barney and Mrs. Kendall had been eleven years old when William had been in a row boat, and according to her story, Rabenaskas is alleged to have been using Mrs. Kendall's tender as a diving float. She ordered him off. This aroused Rabenaskas' anger. He started after Mrs. Kendall. She rowed ashore where she was attacked by Rabenaskas and badly battered and bruised. Then he attempted to put her head into the muddy water, according to her statements.

Rabenaskas was roughly treated by a crowd of South Boston men who rushed to Mrs. Kendall's assistance. Arraigned in South Boston court, Rabenaskas' case was continued until tomorrow for trial, by request of police and counsel.

Joseph Walsh of New Bedford, former Congressman, one of the five new judges of the Superior Court appointed by Governor Cox, was today inducted into office here by Judge Walsh in the quiet room of the Superior Court. Grouping a seat on the left of Judge Walsh was Congressman "Uncle" Joe Cannon, former Speaker of the National House at Washington, who accompanied the new judge on the trip from Washington. Before arriving at the courthouse, Judge Walsh accompanied by the former speaker and former Governor of New York, took the oath of office administered by Governor Cox at the State House. JAZZ SUPREMACY IN 'SHUFFLE ALONG'

By FRED J. McSABAC
Not since Jack Johnson pulverized James J. Jeffries have the folks up Northampton street way had occasion to be so proud as they are over the reception given "Shuffle Along" at the Selwyn.

Everything about "Shuffle Along" is black or tan or fitted. The orchestra is very black. The comedians are likely. The tenor and baritone men are brown. The chorus girls are just neatly tanned. They look like a lot of regular Broadway vaudeville who have had just a little too much sun. And when they put that intricate paint and powder on and they wear those delicious oriental costumes, well, they are not at all hard to look at.

HAVE CORNER ON JAZZ
New York just now is mad about negro entertainers. In several places they make you put on three suits to get into cabarets where Ethiopian Americans are giving the show.

What's the answer? Jazz. This curious, fantastic form of music, which probably originated in the boat of some tanned African jester, is now the rage. Nobody can beat out a jazz melody like an African orchestra. Nobody can dance with the utter abandon of a negro.

There are a dozen dancers in "Shuffle Along" who can make the ordinary white stepper look pale. And there are no vaudeville-like old negro bass or tenor. Can you imagine a white quartet which would have power enough to imitate a steam calliope like the "Four Horse Kings" (Globe Alley).

WHILE COMPANY CLEVER
The score of "Shuffle Along" was composed by Rube Blake, the bald Ethiopian who leads the orchestra, and everybody who dances has been stepping in it for two seasons, while everybody with a phonograph or even hearing distance of one has been stepping in it for two seasons, while everybody with a phonograph or even hearing distance of one has been stepping in it for two seasons.

It's a very clever company, from the chore to the principal. Every body in the chorus can dance like a soldier. There is one chorus girl whose grotesque dancing stops the show. Lottie Gee and Edith Spencer are female Al Jolson when it comes to putting on a song. And as black character comedians Miller and Lytle are terribly funny, though they have a little too much to do. Noble Satterly who wrote the lyrics is a remarkable performer.

"Shuffle Along" will probably shuffle along at the Selwyn for three or four months.

REFUSE DELAY IN TRIAL OF MORSE

Washington, Aug. 2.—City Attorney General Fletcher Borchers to delay the trial of Charles W. Morse and others charged with conspiracy to defraud the government was repudiated here by District Attorney Percy T. Gordon.

The district attorney opposed a stipulation to postpone habeas corpus proceedings until October 3 and denied Doherty had authority to agree to delaying the trial of Morse.

REED HOLDS LEAD IN THE MISSOURI DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES

ANTI-KLAN ARE DOING OKLAHOMA

Woman Candidate for U. S. Senate Loses in West Virginia Primary

PRIMARY RESULTS.
Missouri—Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, believed re-elected.
Oklahoma—Anti Klan Robertson, Republican, only woman Congresswoman, re-nominated. Mayor J. W. Walton of Oklahoma City, Farmer-Labor candidate, apparently nominated for Governor.
West Virginia—L. R. Senator Howard M. Sutherland, Republican, leading H. A. Gaden, Virginia-Senator Claude A. Swanson, Democrat, re-nominated.

St. Louis, Aug. 2.—Incomplete unofficial returns from 2,412 precincts out of 3,848 in the State for the Democratic primary nomination in Missouri gave James A. Reed 146,083, Long 130,695, and Young 5,653.

Reed's re-nomination on his record as a leader of the opposition to the League of Nations policies of one wing of his party.

The Reed, Long race overshadowed all other issues in the primary campaign. The Senator, veteran of many campaigns, was bitterly assailed by followers of Woodrow Wilson, by those who objected to his war record, by friends of the League of Nations, prohibition, suffrage and Federal maximum bills, by women's organizations and by Union Democrats of Missouri who assisted in reading him out of the party in 1920.

Ex-President Wilson took a hand in letters to friends in Missouri condemning Reed as a "marginal."

Anti-Klan Ahead in Oklahoma

Oklahoma City, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Mayor J. C. Walton of Oklahoma City, anti-Klan Klan candidate, and supported by the Farmer-Labor element of Oklahoma, was leading his nearest opponent for Governor by almost 8,000 votes today with unofficial returns from the Statewide primary showing a third count.

Sutherland Ahead in West Virginia

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 2.—H. C. Gaden of Wheeling admitted today that Senator Howard M. Sutherland held a commanding lead for Republican nomination on the face of primary returns from 1,000 to 1,200 precincts, but declined to concede victory.

In the Democratic senatorial contest Mrs. Jarvis Jewell Brown, widow of Representative William C. Brown, seemingly has lost the nomination to M. M. Neely of Fairmont. Neely's which reported Republican figures gave Neely 27,272 and Mrs. Brown 25,151.

Swanson Far Ahead in Virginia Race

Richmond, Va., Aug. 2.—Practically complete returns today from three-fourths of the 100 counties in Virginia and scattering returns from the others appeared to assure Senator Claude A. Swanson of the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in his contest with former Governor Westmoreland Davis. The count was 67,923 votes for Swanson and 32,833 for Davis.

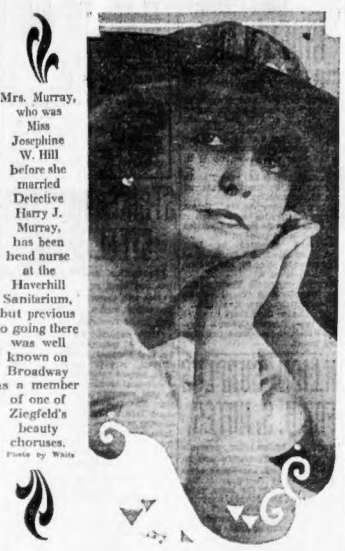

Congressman Alice Leading in Kansas

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Alice Robertson, Republican representative in Congress from the second district, was ahead in her race for re-nomination on the face of meagre returns today. Manuel Herrick of Perry, Republican, who proclaims himself a "rural dare-devil" was Congress' poorest third in the eighth district with less than half of the precincts heard from.

FIND GIRL LYING SENSELESS IN STREET

Police of Malden and Medford are today trying to establish the identity of a 22-year-old girl who was found unconscious on the sidewalk in Salem street, near Charlestown, Medford, the victim of an epileptic fit. After she recovered consciousness in the Malden Hospital, she refused to say who she was, but nurse learned that her home is in Boston.

HAVERTHILL BRIDE WAS ONCE SHOW-GIRL

MRS. HARRY J. MURRAY

Mrs. Murray, who was Miss Josephine W. Hill before she married Detective Harry J. Murray, has been head nurse at the Haverhill Sanitarium, but previous to going there was well known on Broadway as a member of one of Ziegfeld's beauty choruses.

St. Louis, Aug. 2.—Harry J. Murray, assistant superintendent of the Boston branch of the National Detective Agency, was married to Miss Josephine W. Hill, head nurse at the Haverhill Sanitarium, and former chorus girl with Ziegfeld's "Follies."

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas O'Toole at the St. James Episcopal residence here. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes McDougall, superintendent at the sanitarium, while Inspector John Conroy of the Boston police department was best man.

Following the wedding, bride and groom drove with the wedding guests to the Sullivan Inn for a wedding dinner. They were to sail today for Havana, Cuba, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will make their home at 59 Norway street, Boston.

Mrs. Murray has been at the sanitarium for two years. She graduated from the Malden Hospital, and prior to entering that institution was a member of one of Ziegfeld's beauty choruses.

ADD A LITTLE JOY TO LIFE OF OLD FOLKS
The old folks that go over to the Long Island Hospital in Boston Harbor walk in, but seldom walk out. It's a Boston institution where many of the infirm and friendless spend their last days.

For thirty-five years the poor old folks have had a climb a steep grade to get into the home. Today that grade was ordered reduced and stone steps with stone-rail benches built in. Their way in will be made easier; their way out they knew nothing of.

EX-FOLLIES' SINGER WEDS DETECTIVE $250 PRIZES FOR YOUNG ARTISTS

Many drawings are being received from boys and girls throughout New England in the drawing contest being run through the Boston American by the Boston Club of Printing House Craftsmen.

This contest is open to all New England boys and girls. Everyone who sends a drawing accompanied by the coupon will receive a prize.

The prizes are: First prize, $100; second prize, $50; three prizes, $25; five prizes, $10; ten prizes, $5. "Drawings for reproduction." To everyone who sends a drawing will be given two tickets to the Second Educational Graphic Arts Exposition, Mechanics Building, Boston, August 28 to September 2.

Ability to draw is not essential to enter the contest. The judges will look first for the originality of the idea presented in showing what the graphic arts, printing and photography reproduction, have done for civilization. If your idea is clever you will have as much chance of winning as though you were a good artist.

The drawings of the winners of the money and book prizes will be exhibited in Haver Hall, Mechanics Building, during the Exposition. The first prize drawing will be reproduced as the cover of "The Printing Craftsman," a trade journal published in Boston. The next four prize winners will be reproduced on an inside page of that magazine.

Send coupon with drawing. Failure to do so eliminates it from contest. Write name, address and age on coupon.

SENATOR CROW OF PENNSYLVANIA DIES

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 2.—United States Senator William E. Crow is dead. His condition became critical Monday. He was appointed in 1913 by Governor Sproul to fill the unexpired term of the late Philander C. Knox.

FRANCE AGAINST MORATORIUM TO GERMANY

By the Associated Press.

Paris, Aug. 2.—The British note on the inter-allied debt question has renewed all possibility of France consenting to a moratorium for Germany, in the view of official circles, expressed today.

The British note, which was a disappointment to the French government, may eliminate all consideration of a general European agreement regarding reparations and the allied debts.

One reservation was that the British communication might be a diplomatic move to place Prime Minister Lloyd George in the most favorable position possible for Monday's meeting in London of the allies' representatives, and that it might be followed by other British proposals concerning the allied debts and reparations.

London, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The bulk of newspaper criticism directed at the British Government's note to the allies concerning war debts is adverse. Fearful that the note will be regarded as the Atlantic as being addressed to America rather than to any European country, it is expressed.

SUN'S TROOPS DRIVEN BACK FORTY MILES

Chien, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Chien Chiang-shing's forces, who are favorable to the Peking Republic, have defeated the troops of Sun Yat-sen, the deposed President of the Canton Republic, and driven them from Shichow, 130 miles north of Canton, to a point beyond Chingling, more than forty miles northeast of Shichow according to a bulletin given out at General Chien's Canton headquarters. The bulletin says the Chien Chiang-shing army captured 2,000 rifles, twenty-one machine guns and nine cannons.

CHILD RUN DOWN BY Trolley
Escapes With Life! Photo-diagram of how Francis O'Brien, three, of No. 54 Burnside street, Jamaica Plain (shown in circle), was run down by a trolley at Washington and Burnside streets. The child was caught between the guard and wheel. It was necessary to jack up the car before he could be extricated. Strangely, he was not seriously hurt.

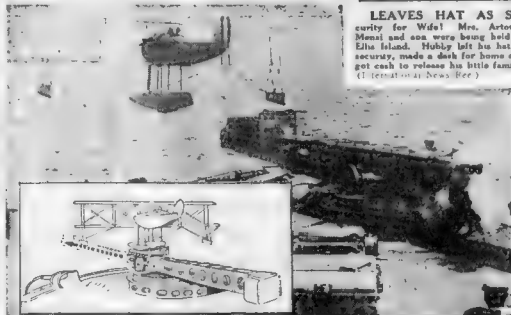

A SKIN YOU LOVE TO TOUCH!
That's the heart's desire of the sand sylvan. And they want it a nice sun-baked brown. But what of the fair skinned girls? They just burn—that's all. Marie La France of Boston says to use brown powder. You get the tan without the pain.

IT'S ALMOST AS EASY AS DRAWING YOUR BREATH, Girls and Boys!
Ability to draw is not essential to enter the contest now being run by the Boston American through the Boston Club of Printing House Craftsmen. Originality of the idea in showing what the graphic arts (printing and photographic reproduction) have done for civilization. If your idea is clever you have a good chance of winning part of the $250 in prize. See news pages for details. The above drawing by Fanny Stevalman of Brighton, 15 years old, is a suggestion of what is wanted.

THE RADIO
Wore in the Splash-Me Fad at the Beach These Days! Many of the kooky ladies at Nantasket say they'd rather have a radio buzzing around than a dozen cake eaters. Which accounts, of course, for the popularity of the radio. Just string the wires out to the ribs of your sunshade and tune up for the best tunes. In fact if you don't want to go near the water there's plenty of radio waves hanging around. Beatrice Birch says her outfit is the elephant's value.

"This little pig went to market and this little pig stayed home" may be all right for the fairy-tale books, but Miss Boston will have to pay home and suffer with her car in silence owing to prohibitive chiropractic prices, if the Republicans have their way. Chiropractors' instruments are boosted from 100 to 150 per cent under the original tariff bill. Plain shows Dr. Nathaniel Lavinian of No. 423 Washington street, who is opposed to the measure. It would seem as if the truth or falsity of the assertion, therefore, that money can only with safety earn its money, approved or disapproved by the investment of the money in the hands of the business man and teller, tell, let me see by the statistics of the business man.

Ancient Culinary Ideas
 SOME of the early ideas of delicacies would not appeal to the modern taste, nor would such methods as some Roman cooks applied to the red mullet, which was cooked while alive in a glass vessel on the table.

First Authentic Story of French Bluebeard, Who Won 283 Women, Written By William Le Queux

WHILE he was carrying on his love affair with the young fortune-teller's assistant, Landru had several meetings with Mme. Huissou. The clever love criminal also found time to visit his wife. He was a marvel of adroitness and deceit.

To Madame Faucher, the co-accused, "Monseigneur Guillot" as Landru then called himself—had explained that the young girl was a niece who had just come from the country in search of a situation. The truth was, however, that she was the daughter of a woman who had been born in the Rue de Valenciennes, and that her father, having died, she had married a man named Lollin. And it was in the service of a certain Madame Vial, a fortune teller who lived in Belleville, and next day Landru persuaded her to return to her place "for a few days, which she did."

THE STORY SO FAR
 Landru's early life is described by M. Le Queux in the opening chapter of his story of the world's greatest love criminal. After years of petty swindling he turned his attention to victimizing women, making love to them, getting control of their property, and then killing them. Mme. Huissou was one of the first. Landru poisoned her and her son Andre in a villa rented with her money and burned their bodies in a furnace. He then made love to Mme. Lavard Liane. Meanwhile the police investigated his activities at the villa and he was already planning for time, going to Lyons and at notifying them he would have to be gone a week or more. While he made love to several other women, including Nina Langlois, to whom he wrote affectionately and got her to sleep over his mother. His affair with Elise Laporte followed. Next he killed Mme. Huissou. Andre Babin, a poor shopkeeper, fell into his clutches.

Life Career of the World's Greatest Love Criminal, as Shown by the Archives of the Paris Police

Landru opened the shutters and windows, and the girl, with wide, fearful eyes, cried enthusiastically: "What a pretty house! It is really charming!"

"I am glad you like it, little one," was Landru's reply. They were standing in the ante-chamber, that well-furnished room in which other victims had breathed their last, and "Bluebeard," taking the girl in his hairy arms, kissed her passionately upon the lips, saying: "All I hope is that you will be happy here, and that you will get quite used to my darling."

Next day he hired a bicycle for her in Houdan, and in the days that followed she was often seen about on it, and evidently enjoyed the country life very much. For it was something quite new to her. "Days later," the girl called him affectionately, and those who saw them together believed they were father and daughter, or uncle and niece.

Many people in Gumbria, Houdan, Maudon, Danneville, and other villages in the vicinity often saw them together, either walking or riding. He drove her in that same car in which he had conducted the bodies of his victims to the grave.

Little did the pretty, happy, and trusting young woman know that she was the victim of a grim secret of that roomy, red-tiled villa upon the lonely road. In the morning of the next day, she was not in her room, and her maid had no news of her. The police were called, and the search for the missing woman was begun. The police found the car in the road, but the body was not there. The police found the car in the road, but the body was not there.

Henri Landru Was an Earnest Pledar, and so Vigorously Did He Defend Himself That Many at His Trial Believed Him Innocent

"Build Something," Hearst
Bell's Long Distance Call
Riding Too Hard
England's "No"

By Arthur Brisbane

W. B. Hearst, talking to one of the oldest living editors and urging him to take a vacation, said: "While you are away, build something, it's only a chicken coop or a cow barn. Merely build nothing isn't a vacation. Building takes your mind from ordinary work, rests the tired part of the brain. I am building houses on my California ranch. I may not live in them long, but somehow I build them."

That's good advice, BUILD SOMETHING. Beaver, ant, bird, man, all need to build.

A real builder did yesterday. When Alexander Graham Bell answered the long distance call, Bell built an idea into a magnificent reality, the telephone, that carries the voice of children to their mothers, and of men to each other, all over the world.

To bring human beings closer together, in action and in friendship, is noble work. Alexander Graham Bell did that work. His place is safe in history on this earth, and safe, you may be sure, wherever he has gone.

Railway operators say "No." The workmen say "Yes." To the President. The strike goes on. Owners of railways evidently believe that the President does not mean what he says. In the opinion of this writer, they are mistaken. One important Wall Street man said yesterday: "The railroads think they own the administration, but they are riding the President a little too hard."

They may get a fall, and remember it.

England says to her allies: "You must pay what you owe me, because the United States won't forgive my debts." This is the difference between the debt between the French and Italian debt to England, and the English debt to the United States.

France and Italy between them saved England from destruction. France and Italy between them saved England from destruction.

England did not save the life of the United States, quite a long distance from the United States five thousand million dollars borrowed. It was not if she did not want to pay, there will be no war about it only a memorandum for future use.

The debt of France to the United States is different. That nation did help us when we were fighting England. To forgive that debt would be welcome to many Americans.

Some money is left in the treasury. Mr. Mellon, secretary of the Treasury, needed three hundred million dollars for the United States and offered 45 per cent interest. They offered him four times as much as he wanted.

"Mellon and tomato crops damaged by storm. Farmers get that on their radio. Now they haven't any. They will be offered good price for tomatoes and melons. Remarkable in the course of farmers' persistence."

On the Berg place, his potatoes for $12.5 a barrel, less than the cost to produce. While others were asleep he was clearing the potato field. Now the field is covered with their, dropping the potato. He has lost his potatoes. Very likely he will get less than it cost to grow and haul them.

More slaughtering of automobile prices. Studebaker, Nash and Chrysler cut. The main thing is TO BUY YOUR CAR, the best you can afford, remembering that the cost is not always the dealer's.

AMBUSH FRUSTRATES MURDER

Frank Bomm, 31 years old, a barber, living at No. 84 Winthrop street, Roxbury, was arrested by Somerville police while he was lying in wait, they claim, to kill Walter Fish, a motorist of the Boston Elevated. He had a gun and a box of cartridges in his pocket. He is alleged to have said: "I am out to kill a man who has broken up my home." The police learned, they say, of the intended murder through a threat made by Bomm to his wife. They waited for him and caught him before he could carry out his plan.
